To Whom It May Concern:

Kervin Debrosse is a 15 year old patient at Chris Evert Children's Hospital Pediatric Hematology/Oncology clinic at Broward Health Medical Center. Kervin was admitted to the pediatric hematology/oncology unit on August 25th, 2014 and was diagnosed with B-Cell Acute Lymphoblastic Leukemia (ALL). At that time, Kervin's mother was not living here, but was able to come to the United States to be with her family. The strenuous treatment schedule for this diagnosis has caused a hardship for the family. Kervin's father Ricot is employed in a maintenance position. He works as often as he is able to outside of bringing Kervin for treatment. Kervin's mother works two days weekly. The first year included the most intensive treatment including several outpatient visits to the hospital. This loss of income from that time continues to affect the family in their struggle to make ends meet. They would benefit greatly from any financial support available. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Melissa Stachowiak, LCSW
